LIKHAMON 2025: InnoVision Youth Expo CONCEPT NOTE

Romblon State University proudly presents LIKHAMON 2025, a celebration of the passion, creativity, and community spirit of our young researchers. This year's showcase highlights the vital role that the youth play as partners and catalysts of change in building resilient, informed, and empowered communities.

LIKHAMON 2025 serves as a platform for our student and young researchers to exhibit their innovative research, development, and creative projects that address real-world challenges. Each booth and display embodies the spirit of collaboration, service, and relevance — emphasizing how research can directly benefit and uplift local communities.

The expo features projects that offer real solutions to real problems — from technology and science innovations to community development, education, health, agriculture, and the arts. Each project shows how research can directly improve lives and make a positive impact.

Through LIKHAMON 2025, we celebrate the dedication, creativity, and passion of our students and young researchers as true partners of the community in building a better future.

GUIDELINES : Violating any of the following rules will disqualify the participant/s.

Eligibility

1. The InnoVision Youth Expo Competition is open to individuals, teams, organizations, and institutions from all backgrounds and disciplines.. There are no restrictions based on age, profession, or affiliation.

Rules

1. All competitors/participants must register and submit their abstract as confirmation on/or before April 30, 2025, through this link <https://bit.ly/Likhamon2025Registration>
2. Each participant or team will be provided with a booth space to present their research, development, or creative projects. Booths should clearly explain the project's objectives, methods, and outcomes.
3. Projects may cover any field — including science, technology, social development, environment, health, education, agriculture, and the arts — as long as they showcase research and innovation that help communities.
4. Participants must present their work clearly and engagingly through visuals, demonstrations, or interactive elements that visitors can easily understand.
5. Projects should highlight originality, creativity, and real-world impact. Participants are encouraged to think outside the box and propose meaningful solutions to community challenges.
6. All projects must follow ethical standards. Research integrity, transparency, intellectual property rights, and confidentiality must be respected.
7. Participants must be present at the RSU Quadrangle, Main Campus, 30 minutes before the event starts on May 14, 2025. Late participants may be disqualified.
8. The organizers will not be responsible for any injuries, damages, or losses during the competition or related activities.
9. Organizers may adjust deadlines and event dates if needed, based on urgency and availability.
10. The decisions of the judging panel are final and cannot be appealed.

Note: Failure to submit the above requirements on the given date will lead to disqualification. It's important to check the specific requirements and eligibility criteria of the competition before applying to ensure that you meet the qualifications.
